ABOUT THIS GUIDE

This housing guide was created to provide information and resources regarding housing options throughout the Golden Crescent region. Efforts have been made to include comprehensive and accurate resources from across the region; however, please be aware that information may be subject to change as new resources emerge and existing services evolve. While this guide aims to be a helpful resource, inclusion in this guide does not imply endorsement by the Golden Crescent ADRC or its partners. We encourage users to verify the details of each listing to ensure it meets their specific needs.

What is the ADRC

The ADRC is your one-stop source for connecting with services and support to help older adults, people with disabilities, caregivers, and families in our community. Our goal is to make it easier for you to find the resources you need to live independently, safely, and with dignity.

How Can the ADRC Help You?

We provide free, confidential assistance tailored to your unique situation. Services include:

- Information and Referral: Access to local resources for housing, healthcare, transportation, and more.
- Benefits Assistance: Help applying for Medicaid, Medicare, Social Security, SNAP, and other programs.
- Long-Term Care Options Counseling: Guidance on in-home services, assisted living, or nursing facilities.
- Housing Navigation Services: Advocating for affordable and accessible housing.
- Caregiver Support: Resources, support, and respite services for family caregivers.
- Transition Services: Support for individuals moving from nursing homes or other facilities back into the community.

HOUSING PROGRAMS

Rental Programs

Public Housing Authority (PHA)

An organization that manages and oversees affordable housing programs in its community. PHAs are responsible for providing safe, decent, and affordable housing to low-income individuals, families, seniors, and people with disabilities. They administer programs like Public Housing and Section 8 Housing Choice Vouchers, ensuring that eligible residents receive rental assistance and access to housing opportunities. PHAs also work with landlords, maintain housing units, and help connect residents with other resources to support self-sufficiency.

Public Housing

This is a housing program managed by local Public Housing Authorities (PHAs) to provide safe, affordable rental homes for low-income families, seniors, and individuals with disabilities. The government owns and maintains these housing units, and tenants pay rent based on their income.

Section 8 Housing Choice Voucher Program

This is a housing program where eligible low-income households receive vouchers to help pay rent for privately-owned housing. The program allows participants to choose their housing (as long as the property meets certain standards) and covers a portion of the rent directly to the landlord.

Tax Credit Properties

Affordable rental housing units built or renovated using funding from the Low-Income Housing Tax Credit (LIHTC) program. Developers receive tax credits in exchange for offering reduced rents to low-income tenants.

HOUSING PROGRAMS

Home Purchasing Programs

First Time Homebuyer Programs

Programs are designed to help individuals or families purchase their first home by offering financial assistance or special benefits. These programs may include down payment assistance, lower interest rates, or help with closing costs. They are often available through federal, state, or local government agencies and may have income and eligibility requirements.

Neighborhood Assistance Corporation of America (NACA)

A nonprofit organization that offers a unique homeownership program designed to help low- to moderate-income individuals and families buy homes. NACA provides no-down-payment, no-closing-costs, and below-market interest rate mortgages with affordable monthly payments. NACA also offers homebuyer education and counseling to guide participants through the homebuying process.

USDA Rural Development Loans

USDA loans are available for eligible rural and suburban homebuyers. These loans offer no down payment and low-interest rates, making homeownership more affordable for people in rural areas.

Texas State Affordable Housing Corporation (TSAHC)

Offers multiple programs to assist first-time homebuyers in Texas, including down payment assistance and low-interest rate mortgage loans. Some programs are specifically for teachers, veterans, and low-income buyers.
